We'll work together to fight back

NEIGHBOURS across six Haverhill streets have taken a stand against anti-social behaviour and crime by forming an action group.

The Keep It Clean and Safe (KICS) residents' association supports Clements Close, Old Clements Lane, Montfort Court, Bedford Court, Beaconsfield Court and Clayhive Drive in Haverhill.

The group was formed after residents experienced problems in the area which went on for eight months.

Chairman of KICS Micka Guerit said: "They went on day and night."

"A couple with a baby actually moved to rented property because it was that bad."

The problems included fighting in the street, drug dealing and residents being intimidated by troublemakers.

Micka, who lives in Clements Close, said she and her neighbours contacted Haverhill police and housing association Orbit at the time – but they decided to form KICS when they were unhappy with the response.

DEBRA FOX

She said: "Other streets asked us if they could join because they had problems too."

A spokesperson for Orbit said they were investigating complaints, and Suffolk Police have appointed PC Will Wright, of Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, to work with KICS.

A police spokesman said: "Haverhill Police received a number of complaints in relation to anti-social behaviour in Clements Close. Suffolk Police take all reports of anti-social behaviour seriously and act on the information received."

Haverhill Town Council and Havebury Housing have also joined KICS to tackle the problems.

Town clerk Will Austin said: "The town council is keen to support residents' associations in Haverhill, and councillors have been meeting with KICS members to resolve issues in their locality. We would encourage other residents' groups to come forward and bring us their concerns."

Anti Social Behaviour Co-ordinator at Havebury Peter Dunsdon said: "Although many of the concerns raised by the group were not ones which we could directly influence we are always happy to provide support and advice when requested."

KICS also plans to organise a litter pick to keep their streets clean, and they're offering help and advice for other residents in the town who hope to set up their own associations.

Contact kics.cb9@hotmail.co.uk for more on joining and follow the group on Twitter @KICSCB9

RECORD BREAKING ATTEMPT: Callum Sutton, left, and Daniel Bell have to broadcast for 75 hours if they are to break the record

TEENAGE radio presenters are well into their attempt to break the Guinness World Record for the longest team DJ marathon broadcast.

Daniel Bell and Callum Sutton, both 16, started their 75 hour marathon show on Ignite Radio, their own station, on Tuesday at 6pm.

They will finish the broadcast tomorrow at 9pm.

Daniel said: "It's going very well, everyone seems to be up and enjoying it a lot. 'We've been having really funny chats late at 3am, including a game of monopoly!'"

The pair, who are broadcasting from the Days Inn, Haverhill, wanted to take on the world record last year to beat Chris Moyles and Dave Vitty – but they had to be over 16.

Daniel and Callum did a 72 hour show anyway, and fundraised for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

This year the proceeds will go to Help for Heroes.

Daniel said: "I really want to raise money for the charity, and that's the main reason we are doing this, but getting a Guinness World Record as well would be quite amazing."

The 16-year-olds have a strict set of guidelines to follow during the broadcast, which include that every track must be introduced by the DJs and that each piece of music must last at least two minutes and be no longer than six minutes.

The entire radio show must also be recorded on video and any breaks must be entered into a log book.

Daniel, of Bumpstead Road, Haverhill, and Callum, of Impington, did their first live radio broadcast after becoming interested in podcasting in Year 7 as Linton Village College pupils.

The friends then created Ignite, which now runs 24 hours a day and is aimed at 12 to 20-year-olds.

They will both start studying radio at Cambridge Regional College in September.

If you want to make a request on the show send them to 75hourradio@gmail.com.

Stay safe with county's new helping scheme

BUSINESSES across Haverhill are pledging their support and signing up to Suffolk's Stay Safe scheme.

Next Monday, August 19 and Tuesday, August 20 employees across the town will receive training for the project, which benefits vulnerable, disabled and elderly people.

The scheme also supports younger people facing bullying.

Participating businesses who are part of Stay Safe will display window stickers and help anyone who comes to them for support.

Police warning after homes burgled near railway line

EIGHT homes have fallen victim to burglars over the past six weeks.

Police say that homes on the Chalkestone and Hales Barn Farm estates have been picked due to their location on the old railway line.

Two sheds were also broken into on Broad Street, also because of their access to the old railway line.

Culprits have entered homes at night while victims slept upstairs.

Inspector Peter Ferrie said: "People are getting in through insecure doors and windows."

"It's not quite so hot now so I would hope people have been making sure they are closed before going to bed at night."

Police plan to increase patrols along the old railway line in a bid to catch people walking that route after dark.

Call Haverhill police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

FUNDRAISING: The Guides need help to reach their £60,000 target to enable them to get a new building. Pictured at the HQ are some of the representatives of the various groups who use the site, along with District Commissioners Jill Moss and Sarah Lyons.

See if your speed hits the mark with club

RUNNERS can step up their training with new monthly runs set to start in Haverhill. The town's running club will start holding 5k runs for anyone who wants to take part.

The sessions start on August 29 and will take place on the last Thursday of every month from 7pm.

Organisers say recreational runners will find the 5k distances perfectly within their ability, and more serious competitors can work on improving their time during each run.

Trevor Bunch from Haverhill Running Club said: "We hope that by opening up the timed runs each month, thanks to financial support from the England Athletics, it will encourage more people to use the permanently marked running routes in the town in their own time and to use the monthly runs as a way of measuring how they are improving."

Anyone aged 11 and over can take part in the monthly runs for £2.

They will take place behind Haverhill Leisure Centre, on Ehringhausen Way, on the town's old railway track which was marked up as a running route last year.

Individual times will be posted on the running club's website at www.haverhillrunningclub.org.uk after each session.

20 years on, please help us reach our £60,000 target

GUIDING troops across Haverhill are working hard to raise funds for a new headquarters.

Their current premises, in Colne Valley Road, has been deemed unsafe in places and the town's groups have been forced to relocate to other meeting points or set up camp in portable cabins.

There are an estimated 400 rainbows, Brownies, Guides, Cubs, Beavers and Scouts across Haverhill, and it is hoped that the new building will be able to house them all – but they need to double their current fundraising total of £30,000 before work can even start.

Jill Moss, District Commissioner for Girlguiding in Haverhill, said that the groups have been working together for 20 years in the fight for a new building. She said: "We want to go for a building that is subdivided into three smaller units. We're all going to work in one large building that will have partitions."

If the money is raised, the new premises will become an ideal place for all of the scouts and guides in Haverhill to hold regular sessions as well as annual camps and outdoor activities.

The current Scout and Guide HQ is ideal for camping, says Jill, but the building is not suitable for weekly meetings.

Built in 1960, the building is in desperate need of an overhaul and it will be demolished and rebuilt from scratch if enough money is raised.

The land was gifted to the Haverhill Scouts and Guides from the Gurteen family, who were local clothing manufacturers.

Jill, who runs four of the Girlguiding units, said: "We have mums who come to drop off their children who were members of the Rainbows and Brownies themselves and they remember doing the fundraising then."

The town's Sainsbury's store, on Haycocks Road, have chosen to support the Headquarters Rebuilding Fund as their charity of the year.

This is the first sponsorship that the Scouts and Guides have received, and it is hoped this will help push the total closer to the required £60,000.

Jill said: "It was absolutely brilliant to hear we had been chosen."

The Scouts and Guides also plan to apply for a ONE Haverhill community grant.

These can be allocated to groups who feel they can help with Haverhill's community budget objectives – youth provision and street preservation.

If the building plan goes ahead, Jill says they will not only use the HQ themselves but rent it out as space for other troops across the country to hold their camps and events.

The Girlguiders are holding a backpack at Sainsbury's on Saturday, August 24 from 10am until 4pm with all proceeds going towards the Headquarters Rebuilding Fund.

They also have another pack planned for December to help the Christmas shoppers.

Vandals cause chaos at primary school

HEARTBROKEN children will return to school after the holidays to discover their hard work has been ruined.

Vandals have ripped through a fruit and vegetable garden, which was created by Burton End Primary School pupils two years ago.

This is the first year that the trees have had fruit, but they have been ripped from the ground along with offerings from the vegetable section.

Accompanying benches have also been pulled up.

The incident happened between 6pm on Saturday, July 27th and the next morning.

PC Will Wright, of Haverhill police, has been investigating the incident.

He said: "It's not just one thing that's been vandalised, it's the whole lot.

"There's been further damage to some of the school's goal nets as well."

The police are appealing for anyone with information or for anyone who thinks they may have seen the culprits at work to contact the Haverhill Safe Neighbourhood Team on 101.

PC Wright added: "Someone has obviously gone on a rampage here, and these are primary school kids.

"They don't understand what's happening."

If you have any information you can also contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

MISSING: Freddie's owners are desperate to find him

Plea to find lost pet cat

A MOTHER and daughter are searching for their cat after he failed to come home at the weekend.

Freddie is missing from Falklands Road, Haverhill, and has not been seen by his owners since Saturday morning.

Mum Kate Marlow and daughter Evie, 16, are desperate to be reunited with the four-year-old cat.

Kate said: "We have got a cat flap so he does wander in and out. He's an outdoor cat but he always comes home."

Kate said that Freddie, who is grey and white, is very friendly and would respond to anyone if they called him over.

He's also very greedy, and Kate thinks if he's been offered food from someone he would keep going back to their home.

The mum said: "We have already been and put leaflets through everyone's letter boxes.

"He would respond by any other name and I think he might have been going into someone's garden."

"If they thought he was a stray and decided to keep him, perhaps this will shake their conscience and they'll return him home."

Freddie doesn't wear a collar but he is micro-chipped.

If you've seen the missing cat or have any information about where he is please call Kate on 01440 707956.

Slimming award – and photos to be proud of

THE desire to have some holiday photos to be proud of was the trigger to push a Haverhill woman to lose almost five stone in six months.

Charlie Hardy, 35, has lost 4 stone 13.5lbs, after signing up for Slimming World classes at The Newcroft, on Chalkstone Way, Haverhill in February this year.

The 35-year-old of Highfields, Clare, says she was never without a cup of sugary tea in one hand and a chocolate bar in the other before the weight loss.

Now she's ditched the three sugars and snacks instead on strawberries and grapes.

DEBRA FOX

Charlie said: "It feels absolutely amazing. I never thought I could do it.

"I had aimed to lose a lot of weight because I had watched my friend do the same but I didn't know I could actually do it.

"I didn't want to come back from a holiday with a load of photos that would go into a drawer and I would never look at."

The 35-year-old was awarded her group's Woman of the Year award for her can-do attitude and achievement – a true sign that she has come a long way since the start.

Charlie swapped cereal for toast, stuffed sandwiches and creamy sauces for fruit, yoghurt and vegetables. Despite the change, she never feels hungry.

She said: "I found it really easy and I would recommend it to anyone in a heartbeat.

"To know I've inspired other people to lose weight – there's just no words for it."

The slimmer also took part in her group's Race at Your Place charity run, held at The Newcroft on July 28.

Participants could walk, run or jog 2k, 5k or 10k.

Taking part in the 2k race, which was raising money for Cancer Research, was a big step for Charlie.

The 35-year-old only felt comfortable enough to run after losing weight with her group.

She said: "I used to love running and I hadn't done it in about 15 years. I had no concept of how far I was running and I did 2k in about 15 minutes. I wished I'd picked a longer distance."

WE WANT GREEN SPACE: Ian Johnson with some of his supporters. They are backing his campaign to get more parkland in Haverhill.

350 residents back call for more parks and gardens

THE borough council's masterplan for the town has not been given a smooth ride by all of Haverhill's residents.

The latest point of contention: the "inadequate and inappropriate" provision of parkland in the town.

The problem has been highlighted by long-time Haverhill resident Ian Johnson, 70, of Marcus Close. His angry response to the council's plans – posted on the internet – has now gathered almost 350 signatures.

"We want the borough council to provide Haverhill with a fair crack of the whip," said Mr Johnson. "I didn't ask for a petition but people came to me because they were struggling to fill in the forms."

The council's plan – known as Vision 2031 – provides for an extra 2.2 hectares of parks and gardens in the town.

NICK KOSTOV

Meanwhile, Haverhill's population is expected to grow by almost 10,000.

Mr Johnson said this will lead to a reduction in the amount of parkland per person in the town.

To address the problem, Mr Johnson, a former president of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, is asking the borough council to turn the triangle between Calford Green, Coupals

Road and the Wilsey Estate into a designated green area that will be developed as an extension to East Town Park.

The council is planning to create a green buffer zone in the triangle but also to build new homes and a road.

The public consultation on the council's Vision 2031 document closed last week and complaints like Mr Johnson's will now be considered by the council – if the council is happy the plan is both legal and sound, the document will be sent to a planning inspector for adoption.

At this point – likely to be next spring – disgruntled residents will be able to oppose it.

A council spokesperson said: "The examination is public and the petitioner can ask to put his case direct to the inspector."

Mr Johnson said he will "absolutely fight this until the end."

Family fun day at the rugby club

FAMILIES are invited to bring a picnic and join in the free entertainment and sports at a family fun day.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Haverhill Town Council and Parkway Residents Association are all taking over the town's rugby club on August 21 from 11am until 3pm to offer fun and games to parents and children alike.

Apart from the activities, which include a rodeo bull, balloonist, trampoline and a raffle – all of which will be free – the Parkway Residents Association will present a brand new kit to the under-eights Little Legends football team.

The chairman of the resident's association, Stuart Summers, said the kit presentation would be a big thing for the youngsters.

He added: "They do struggle with funding a little bit and we've helped them out a couple of times."

The Little Legends team – which trains at Burton End – was started by Cambridge United legend John Taylor.

Thank you – the bash was great!

THANK you to the Weekly News for all your support in promoting the Summer Bash.

Together with other businesses like yours, local talent, great organisation and such good spirit from the general public that came in their thousands we had the biggest Fun Day Haverhill has seen in many years.

The day was held mainly to help lift the morale of the town & also to raise funds for Local good causes. This year we have chosen to help, Lamp H, The Food Bank, the Scouts & Guides and also the elderly.

We could not have put on this show without the expertise of the town council assisting with logistics and administration. They are also holding the money raised.

The total at the moment is approximately £5,000. Whilst this is a fantastic sum we do have some administrative costs to be deducted and we also need some capital going forward.

So once again please accept our heartfelt Thanks. We look forward to hearing from anyone wishing to support Summer Bash 2014!

Can you email a line to david@daviddoughty.co.uk about how the day went for you. Also any suggestions for next year?

If you would like a stand, to be part of the entertainment, have an advert in the programme or help with sponsorship or marshalling for next year's show then please email david@daviddoughty.co.uk

The Summer Bash Team

Will you rise to the challenge with us?

I AM writing to appeal to your readers that its not too late to do something great and sign up for the '3 Days 3 Peaks Challenge' this summer to raise vital funds for Diabetes UK.

The 3 Day 3 Peaks Challenge is an attempt to climb Ben Nevis, Scafell Pike and Mount Snowdon – the three highest peaks in the UK – in just three days.

The challenge sets off on Thursday 29 August starting with Ben Nevis in Scotland, before moving to Scafell Pike in Cumbria and finishing with Snowdon in Wales on Sunday 1 September.

Even though this is a more relaxed timescale than the traditional 3 Peaks Challenge, this is still a tough event and people taking part will need the right fitness and a level of determination. Each of the mountains will be finished within 6-8 hours.

Across the Eastern region there are currently 270,000 people living with diabetes, as well as around 80,000 who have Type 2 diabetes but don't know it.

Diabetes is serious – it can lead to devastating complications such as blindness, kidney failure, heart disease, stroke and amputation.

By joining this challenge for Diabetes UK, budding trekkers will be raising money to provide information and support to local people with diabetes, helping to fund ground breaking research as well as increasing awareness for those undiagnosed or at high risk.

USA meeting 30 July 2013

Many of us were taken out of our comfort zones by the images thrown onto the large screen of the Arts Centre at the beginning of the talk about Mercy Ships presented to us by Jane Palmer, the charity's Community Fundraiser in the UK.

Jane told us that the Mercy Ships Organisation was founded by Don and Deyon Stephens in the USA in 1987, after the birth of their seriously disabled son which inspired Don to formulate the idea to provide a floating hospital delivering healthcare, free of charge, to the neediest people in the world, where even the severest of medical conditions can go untreated.

The Mercy Ships charity, with head office in Texas, currently operates with only one vessel, the Africa Mercy, but she is big, very big, in fact beginning life as a ferry at 16,500 tons she is larger than all the three previous Mercy ships put together and has operated in more than 70 developing countries since her conversion.

To ensure that comprehensive medical care can be provided to as many as possible in every port visited, mainly in West Africa, a crew of up to 450 self-financing and qualified volunteers bring hope to communities by offering help and education in primary healthcare and general hygiene in addition to the specialised procedures carried out absolutely free of charge, in the hospital ship's six operating theatres.

Jane went on to show examples and quote impressive statistics for the many thousands of happy patients benefiting from medical surgery, dental procedures and the help and provision of technology to health projects such as improving clean water supplies and the controlling of the spread of aids in many countries of Africa.

The international charity does not have a high profile yet in Britain as Jane does not have a large advertising budget and Mercy Ships slogan "Compassion in an Ocean of Need" reflects the scale of the enormous task ahead, which has to date benefited over two million patients

The next meeting on August 27 will include a talk, "Through the Year in a Nature Photographer's Garden" by Jeff Harrison, at the Haverhill Arts Centre starting at 10.30am.

NEW TERM: The school units started arriving on site on August 2 and some units were stored temporarily at Karro Food Group. CLASSROOM units for Haverhill's new free school have starting arriving on site.

The Churchill School for pupils with special needs will open its doors next month to the first batch of pupils.

It will welcome students with speech, language and communication needs, and is set to be the first of its kind in Haverhill.

Children with autism, including those suffering from Aspergers syndrome, will also be able to attend.

The opening means that pupils will no longer have to travel to Ipswich, Bury St Edmunds or Sudbury for special needs education.

site to ensure that the school is up to standard and on schedule for the first day of term.

Site manager Graeme Jenkins said that everything is running on time for the school's opening.

He said: "The modules are being built over in Ireland and they started arriving on August 2."

"They will then be transported to the site and the majority of the school will be built in a week."

Mr Jenkins said that in order to avoid congestion on the town's roads, Karro Food Group, based in Little Wratting, offered to store some of the units before the assembly work begins.

Churchill School is going to be based within the grounds of the town's Samuel Ward Academy and the intention is that some of the pupils will be integrated into mainstream classes as much as 80 per cent of the time.

Principal Howard Lay initially made the bid for the academy to host a free school for children with special needs in January 2012.

Georgina Ellis, the current headteacher at Wickhambrook Primary School, which has a dedicated dyslexic centre, was chosen to head the special school and she officially took up the position earlier this year.

Sexual assault 'did not happen'

A REPORTED sexual assault in Haverhill last week was false, police have revealed.

A woman told officers on Wednesday, August 7, that she had been approached by an unknown man in an alleyway off Horsham Close in the town.

The sexual assault was alleged to have happened on Tuesday, August 6 at around 6.05pm.

Police cordoned off an area of Horsham Close on the evening of August 7 so their investigation could get under way.

The cordon remained in place throughout the following day, but was later removed when the allegation was branded false.

A Suffolk police spokesman confirmed that the woman who made the claim is going to receive help from the police.

They said: "The woman remains in contact with the police and will continue to receive support from officers from the Gemini Team, who specialise in investigating allegations of this nature."

Town clerk Will Austin last week backed the police investigation and urged anyone with information to get in touch immediately.

Suffolk Police confirmed that there was no threat to the public, and reiterated that sexual allegations were taken seriously by the force.

They also said that any victim of a sexual assault should always come forward and speak to the police.

If you know anything about a crime you can call Haverhill police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

In an emergency always dial 999.

HARD WORK: The tenants tending the allotments in Lancaster View.

Tenants dig deep with Ground Control

A HOUSING association took some time to train up their tenants in the art of keeping an allotment plot.

Havebury Housing, which has bases in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds, invited residents to enjoy a talk from the association's Ground Control team.

Havebury set up Ground Control in May to maintain the housing association's land, as well as keep on top of hedge cutting, lawnmowing and weed picking.

Simon Smith, manager from Ground Control, educated the visitors on getting the most out of an allotment.

The gardening tips included dealing with pests and double-digging to increase soil drainage.

He said: "Even though it was pouring down with rain most of the day, the tenants were really eager to learn more about how to prepare their allotments and how to grow different vegetables and plants."

"There were lots of very good questions and I look forward to seeing what they grow in the coming months." The session took place in Bury St Edmunds.

Frankie and Benny's fun day for the Rainbow Trust

AN Italian American restaurant is holding a family friendly weekend of activities over the August bank holiday.

Haverhill's Frankie and Benny's, on Ehringhausen Way, is taking part in a national campaign to raise £50,000 for the Rainbow Trust.

The Haverhill branch has a target of £250 to raise over three days of fun.

The family fun weekend will offer a raffle where an xbox, plus games, is the first prize.

A full Harry Potter DVD box set signed by Rupert Grint, who plays Ron Weasley, is up for grabs for second place and the whole family can enjoy a free meal at Frankie and Benny's if they have the third prize winning ticket.

Budding poets could also bring home a prize for mum and dad if they enter the children's poetry competition.

This costs £2 to enter.

Thieves target restaurants to steal used oil

NICK KOSTOV

THIEVES are plundering used cooking oil vats behind restaurant premises in Haverhill in a bid to cash in on a black-market boom for the product.

The latest spate of thefts took place in Queen Street last weekend, when five restaurants were targeted.

The oil can be converted into biodiesel and used to power cars.

Ali Pour, 25, works at Haverhill Pizza & Kebab in Queen Street. He said the oil is stolen almost every day.

He said: "There's no way to lock the container. You can't bring it inside because it's big and heavy. We have to leave it outside."

"It's not just this week end, this has been happening for the past six months."

TARGETED: Ali Pour says thieves take the used cooking oil from Haverhill Pizza and Kebab almost every day

But even those taking precautions are being targeted: in one incident last weekend thieves broke the padlock on the gates of Brownie's in Haverhill to get the oil.

Used cooking oil cannot be poured down the drain and must be stored in large containers at the back of restaurants to be collected by a waste carrier. Mr Pour said containers can store as much as 200 litres of the liquid.

Mark Neilson, who set up Cambridge Biodiesel, a small company which used to sell biodiesel before it went out of business last year, said the problem was growing.

He estimates thieves can turn cooking oil into unregulated biodiesel for just 15p per litre in chemical and electricity costs. Meanwhile, companies have to fork out much more to comply with tax and environmental regulation. "This has driven the trade underground," he said.

The five restaurants targeted on Friday night were Smart Fish Bar, USA Chicken, Star Burger, Top Chef and Brownies.

Inspector Peter Ferrie of the Haverhill Police vowed to increase patrols in the Queen Street area and urged business owners to increase security.

CHARITY CHALLENGE: James, left, and his brother Mark who have completed a gruelling walking and running challenge in aid of EACH

Brothers battle through difficult EACH fundraiser

INJURIES and danger did not get in the way of two determined brothers completing a charity challenge.

Haverhill brothers James and Mark Purkiss have completed a gruelling walking and running challenge and raised more than £500 for East Anglia's Children's Hospices (EACH).

James, manager of Haverhill Leisure Centre and Mark, a bricklayer, took on the Lakeland 50 - a 31,000m ascent with miles of rough and rocky terrain - in July.

The 50-mile challenge is no easy task, even on two good legs, and 33-year-old James was unlucky enough to pick up a knee injury only 20 miles in.

James said: "It was the hardest challenge that we have both completed. The terrain was unforgiving. We had to climb over rocks, boulders, slate, through two quarries, wade through rivers and battle against extreme weather conditions."

The real shock came when 47-year-old Mark lost his footing and ended up hanging off the side of the rockface.

Despite more than 100 people dropping out of the race part of the way through, James and Mark did not give into the obstacles and soldiered on.

The duo smashed their fundraising target of £500 and crossed the finish line after 18-and-a-half hours.

The leisure centre manager said that though the race was physically challenging, it was keeping mentally strong that was the hardest part.

James said: "In the end the race turned into more of a mental challenge than physical to keep going when many people around you were giving up."

"The last checkpoint was three miles from the finish line where we were met with a 1,000ft climb to the top then a 1,200ft descent scrambling over rocks, wading through swamps and through a river."

"This was not a nice way to finish the race but what a relief once we reached the road to lead us to the finish line."

The sporty brothers are already debating taking on the challenge for a second time in 2014.

If you would like to make a donation to James and Mark's sponsored challenge for East Anglian Children's Hospice visit www.justgiving.com/mark-jamespurkiss

Improve your time in the car

RESEARCH carried out by Vauxhall has revealed how to be happy in the car this summer.

Drive Vauxhall, based on Duddery Hill, Haverhill, is encouraging customers to focus on the little things to keep smiles on faces.

The survey revealed that drivers in the east of England enjoy having assistance features in their cars to help them on the road.

Power steering, sat-nav systems and mp3 sockets were only some of options that made a journey more enjoyable.

Sarah Ferrari, Market area general manager at Drive Vauxhall, said: "The research indicates that it really is the little things in life that make people in the East cheerful."

The company's research coincided with a new campaign for the Astra - a motor suitable to provide the extras.

Sarah said: "Similarly, it's the little features of the Astra's spec that can make an immense difference to drivers and passengers, enabling them to enjoy effortless, happy and comfortable journeys."

To find out more about Vauxhall Astra or to book a test drive, contact Drive Vauxhall at Duddery Road, Haverhill, Suffolk CB9 8DS. Call 01440 703606 or go online to www.drivevauxhall.co.uk.

BRAVE: Sarah Jane relies on a cocktail of 18 different drugs to get her through the day, yet refuses to feel sorry for herself.

Fighter won't let asthma get her down

BRIGHT, bubbly, and bursting with life, on the surface Sarah Jane Lewis appears to be like any other 46-year-old. She's a keen gardener, loves to travel, and can often be found cooking up various culinary delights in the kitchen.

But underneath she is hiding a secret – and it's a secret which has turned her world completely upside down. That secret is asthma.

"Sometimes it feels like you have a vice around your chest, and they are tightening it and tightening it until you feel like you can't breathe any more," says Sarah Jane, who lives in St Neots.

"It would be nothing for my dad to come home from a Sunday morning walk and find an ambulance outside the house."

Sarah Jane was first diagnosed with asthma when she was just 3 years old. To begin with, the condition was manageable: a couple of puffs on an inhaler and she was able to live the life she wanted to.

But 15 years ago everything was turned on its head. "I was working as a food and beverages manager at a hotel in London at the time, but had come home to St Neots on a few days off," Sarah Jane recalls.

Asthma has changed Sarah Jane Lewis's life forever. But, despite battling a condition which means she must take 18 tablets a day just to get out of bed in the morning, the inspiring 46-year-old is determined to make life count – and help other sufferers too. Here she talks to Lydia Fallon.

"Suddenly I felt very unwell, I felt like I couldn't breathe but didn't seem to have a wheeze which seemed really strange.

"It was only my brother at home at the time, so I got him out of bed and told him to take me to Hinchbrook Hospital. I walked into the hospital, and to this day they don't know how I did – apparently I was blue. I was taken straight into resus and given adrenalin, and I don't remember anything after that."

Sarah Jane had experienced a silent asthma attack, one of the worst and most traumatic attacks you can have, and one that she was extremely lucky to survive.

"Because I hadn't been wheezing, all I had been doing was circulating carbon dioxide around my body, so basically poisoning myself," she says.

Since that fateful day, Sarah Jane's life has completely changed. From living the fast-paced London life to wishing away the hours during yet another hospital stay (she's admitted every 10 to 12 weeks), it has been a lot to get used to for a lady who admits she "doesn't do resting".

"In that first year I had about 13 weeks at home – the rest of the time I was in Papworth. I think my longest stay was four-and-a-half months, and I actually got sacked from my job for being in hospital too much," Sarah Jane recalls.

"It was a big shock for the whole family. I went from working in London to suddenly being stuck in hospital and they couldn't seem to get the condition under control."

asthma, and a quarter of a million have severe asthma like Sarah Jane.

For these people it is far from just an excuse to skip PE: even the simplest activities like walking up the stairs can prove the ultimate struggle.

Sarah Jane must take 18 different types of drugs a day to try and keep her asthma under control. While most of us start the day with a cup of black coffee and a bowl of cereal, a cocktail of drugs is, and must always be, Sarah Jane's early morning wake-up call.

"When I get up in the morning the first thing I have to do is take all my drugs. Unless those drugs are in my system I can't do anything, so it usually takes about an hour before I'm capable of getting into the world."

There are good and bad days, and everything Sarah Jane does is dictated by the state of her lungs.

"I can't walk very far, I used to like cycling but can't really do that anymore, if we go out shopping we can only do it for a little while before I need to take a break," she says, listing all the things she struggles with now.

"Sometimes I wake up and just can't breathe, I can't physically leave the house, and if that's the case I have to get straight on the phone to Papworth to seek advice."

The asthma has also caused other areas of Sarah Jane's health to deteriorate. She is more susceptible to infections, usually picking one up every eight to 10 weeks, has to take five insulin injections every day for diabetes, and has problems with her bones breaking due to steroids.

But despite her daily struggles, Sarah Jane is determined to make the most of life.

"I've seen so many people in hospital who have just given up, and I think once you've given up you're finished really. I've still got a long way ahead in life, even if it is on all these drugs."

"You have to be a fighter," her mum Geraldine adds. "I have to say hand on my heart Sarah Jane never says 'Why me?', but I would give up anything for her to have a normal life."

Geraldine, along with the rest of the family, has been a constant source of support for Sarah Jane. "My family have been through hell and back again, but they are completely supportive," she says. "Every day I'm in hospital my mum is there with me without fail."

"You wouldn't be a proper mum if you didn't look after your children," Geraldine smiles.

Sarah Jane's positivity is infectious, but she admits coping with a condition that is vastly misunderstood can prove hugely frustrating. "People always say to me: 'You look so well', but they don't see me when I'm not breathing."

"A lot of friends don't understand; they think 'Why is she back in hospital again?' and 'Why for so long?' which can be quite frustrating. Asthma is quite a hidden condition really."

"People don't always understand the severity of the condition. I think sometimes they have this concept that if you have asthma you're given an inhaler, and off you go, bye bye – but two people still die of asthma every day."

The mystery surrounding the illness is one of the main reasons Sarah Jane is so keen to raise awareness, and ensure other sufferers have support too.

"I'm involved with Asthma UK and one of the campaigns we are always on about is how dangerous the condition can be."

"There are 5 per cent of people in the whole of the UK who have severe asthma like me, but quite often the people that are dying are the ones who have the mild asthma, but who are not taking the steroid inhalers they should be taking, or just not looking after themselves."

Sarah Jane speaks at conferences all over the UK for the charity, as well as in schools and hospitals, and it is clearly a cause incredibly close to her heart.

"I'm very keen to get myself out into the public to make people aware of what asthma is about, because unless we do this kind of thing, people are still not going to understand it," she says.

"I really enjoy doing it, as it makes me feel like I'm still part of society – and it's something positive to come out of my condition."

And what would be her advice to other sufferers? "Try and stay positive, and try and keep life as normal as possible. Try not to let it bring you down. And speak to other people who have the condition – there's lots of help out there."

Sarah Jane's latest hospital stay was as recently as June, and she fears her asthma is only likely to get worse in the years to come.

But despite everything life has thrown at her, you certainly won't find this lady feeling sorry for herself.

"I always think there is someone worse off than me. You have to get on with it; it's just one of those things."

"I never allow myself to think 'Why me?' – I'm too positive in life, or maybe just too stubborn!"

FOR MUM: Duncan took on the challenge in memory of mum Margaret.

Cyclists make it 100 miles in legacy ride

DEBRA FOX

A SON has completed an ambitious cycling challenge as part of the Olympic legacy – and in memory of his mother.

Duncan Thomas, 52, of Trinity Link, Haverhill, took part in the Prudential Ride London-Surrey 100, which took place in the capital on August 4.

He joined 20,000 other amateur cyclists at the Queen Elizabeth Park starting line before travelling across London and Surrey and ending on the Mall.

Duncan took on the challenge for Breast Cancer Care, and in memory of mum Margaret, who died of breast cancer in 2008, aged 73.

He said: "It was fantastic – you just get caught up in the moment."

"It was amazing as you went down the Mall and everyone's cheering as you're riding through."

The 52-year-old, who got into cycling three years ago, completed the 100 mile route in five hours and 27 minutes.

To date, Duncan has raised £700 for his chosen charity.

He said taking on the challenge was his way of supporting the people who were there for his mum during her illness.

Duncan said: "Breast Cancer Care and other parts of Cancer Research helped my mam to get through the next 30 years. "I thought it was a way of me saying thank you."

The modest cyclist also took the time to thank everyone who made a donation to his appeal and helped him prepare for his journey.

Duncan said: "The money I have raised far outweighs what I have done."

Father-of-two Jason André, of Eastern Avenue, also made the journey to London to do his bit for chosen charity Bliss.

The organisation supports premature and sick

So far, the 32-year-old has raised nearly £500 and he completed the journey in eight hours.

Jason, who works at Castle Manor Academy, said: "It was really fun but hard work, and the atmosphere was amazing. It's like nothing I've ever experienced before."

Both cyclists have entered the ballot to get the chance to take part in the ride again next year.

Storytelling skills put to the test in shadow puppet workshop sessions across Suffolk

PLAY AND LEARN: The puppet workshop at Haverhill library.

CHILDREN and parents combined playing and learning during an afternoon of puppet workshops at Haverhill library.

Suffolk libraries teamed up with Wishworks and Creative Arts East to run the sessions throughout August.

The puppet workshops cost £2, and visitors were invited to create their own story and make it come to life with puppets.

The sessions followed a successful tour of puppet performances across county libraries in July which inspired and excited children into taking part.

Keen readers can also take part in this summer's reading challenge, which encourages children to read six books throughout the holidays in exchange for prizes.

This year's theme is Creepy House - but if spooky stories aren't suitable, rewards are still up for grabs for other books too.

Visit www.suffolklibraries.co.uk for more information.

Haverhill model to go nationwide

DEBRA FOX

THE group which masterminded Haverhill's community budget has been recognised countrywide for excellence.

ONE Haverhill has been hailed by the Department of Communities and Local Governments for its work with the Government's community budget pilot, and three members of the board have been granted a further honour.

New chair Sarah Howard, outgoing chair Anne Gower and Mark Parker of ONE Haverhill will become ambassadors as the scheme is expanded across the country.

Haverhill was chosen to be one of 12 pilot locations in a project which let residents choose the changes they wanted to see in their neighbourhood.

In June, ONE Haverhill responded to the needs of the its people and announced that a new centre for youth services will be built and that work will be carried out to maintain and improve the appearance of the streets.

The trio were personally invited to help with the expansion by Communities Minister Don Foster.

New chair Sarah Howard said: "The community budget plan has been a lot of hard work with many people contributing and giving their own time to make the plan a success and that work continues.

"It is fantastic and very encouraging to hear from the minister personally that Haverhill has done a great job in the pilot and that we are being asked to disseminate what we learnt here in the town to other areas of the country."

The scheme is now going to reach 100 further locations and in a letter to ONE Haverhill Mr Foster said that other communities were queuing up for the chance to get involved.

The minister said that success stories from the pilot locations have encouraged others to sign up.

He said: "Building on what you have already achieved I have every confidence that you will continue to make great progress and I am looking forward to hearing about the impact of your plans on the lives of local people."

County's cycle challenge is a great success

HUNDREDS of cyclists have clocked up thousands of miles during a three-week campaign encouraging people to get on their bikes.

Teams across Suffolk cycled more than 92,000 miles - the equivalent of riding around the world more than three times.

The collective efforts of businesses across the area saved the county an estimated £24,000 in petrol costs.

Suffolk Constabulary, BT and BBC Radio Suffolk were only some of the employers daring their staff to swap four wheels for two.

Graham Newman, Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for roads and transport said: "I am very pleased to see just how many people got involved in the Cycle Challenge this year. Their hard work and dedication has really paid off.

"Hopefully many have newly discovered the joys and benefits of cycling, while doing their bit to ease congestion and pollution within the county."

the GUIDE

The Bard: Part Two

THIS summer we have already been treated to outdoor performances of The Comedy of Errors, Romeo and Juliet, Cymbeline and Much Ado About Nothing (check out our reviews on cambridge-news.co.uk/whats-on), and now we're into the second half of the Cambridge Shakespeare Festival's programme.

Here's what to expect:

Richard III, St John's College Gardens

SINCE his mortal remains were dug up in a Leicester car park last year, Plantagenet hunchback Richard III has gone storming up the list of interesting royals, so it's timely for the Cambridge Shakespeare Festival to tackle the history play that bears his name.

And by history play, of course, I mean loosely-based-on-history play, because Shakespeare's tale of this country's "worst king" contains about as much truth as your average boasting contest. Anne Neville, for example, is sketched as a woman so insubstantial she literally steps over the body of her first husband to get to the body of her second. (Even Richard seems surprised his woo-ing worked.)

Freeing the eponymous antihero from his historical inspiration can work wonders, and here Andrew P Stephen creates a monarch who is part mischievous imp and part slow-boil deviant. His hunched manner, wobbly gait and bald head called to mind

Gollum; particularly on the occasions he broke the fourth wall to address the audience directly. And in a piece so short of comic relief that its main laughs come during the murder of the Duke of Clarence, Stephen also prompted some giggles.

Hannah Dunleavy

A Midsummer Night's Dream, Homerton College Gardens

WE had wine, we had popcorn, we had sunshine. That is pretty fairy tale-like in itself, don't you think?

Then you add in Homerton College gardens as a venue – think spongy green lawns, mullioned windows, discreet statues whiffing of class – and you begin to really understand the charm of the Cambridge Shakespeare Festival. Plus, to the spiralling notes of a recorder, out rush a cast so enthusiastic, so giddily skittish (which is exactly what you need for a mischievous performance of A Midsummer Night's Dream), and basically, you have it nailed.

A tale of love, magic and laughter, muddled by some rather dubious potions for twisting and skewing hearts thanks to the creepily impish Puck, director Ant Stone's interpretation is a true Shakespearean romp. And it's funny to boot.

The lovers waft in and out, screeching out affections and hatreds with equal mirth, rushing about in bare feet and floaty outfits, suitably caught up in the imaginary branches of the Bard's forest. While they are convincing (particularly the tangle-haired Hermia, played by Mabel Wright), and entertaining (Helena Payne as the lovesick Helena brings gangly, physical comedy), the true laughs come from Bottom (Eddie Beardsmore), despite being an ass, the star of the play within the play. It will definitely have you chuckling.

■ On the cinema front we have a showing of EPIC 2D (U) on Thursday August 22 at 10.30am. A teenager finds herself transported to a deep forest setting where a battle between the forces of good and evil are taking place. MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING (12A) is showing on Thursday August 22 at 7.45pm. This modern retelling of Shakespeare's classic comedy about two pairs of lovers is a pacy, amusing work that even Shakespeare-phobes will find engaging.

The simplicity of the production is enhanced by the decision to shoot in monochrome (it only took 12 days!), and to retain much of Shakespeare's dialogue, although its more flowery corners have been rounded off by director Joss Whedon's script.

DESPICABLE ME 2 2D (U) the sequel to 2010's hugely successful film, revisits the now-reformed

scoundrel Gru, the mischievous sisters Margo, Edith and Agnes and crazy scientist Dr Nefario. Catch them on Friday August 23 and Thursday August 29 at 10.30am.

■ Dates for the diary include slapstick comedy, sing-along songs, puppets, animatronics and loads of audience interaction in THE PIRATES OF DINOSAUR ISLAND on Wednesday August 28 at 11am and 2pm, THE TWILIGHT SHADOWS return to us on Saturday September 7 with classic Cliff Richard and The Shadows hits from 8pm. And WE WILL BE FREE on Wednesday September 25 at 7.30pm – a new drama set in 1834 about the Tolpuddle Martyrs that follows the extraordinary true story of George and Betsy Loveless. He was a Methodist preacher and the leader of the six Dorset shire farm labourers who were tried, convicted and condemned to transportation for swearing a secret oath and forming a union to fight against a succession of wage cuts inflicted by the local landowner.

certificate 15, 1h43m

KICK-ASS and Hit-Girl are back for more action in Mark Millar's comic book sequel which packs more of a punch than the first film.

Now directed by American Jeff Wadlow, after Matthew Vaughn passed on the job, this follow-up to the 2010 movie is amped up with darker humour, more swearing and more violence.

Set four years after the first film, our favourite characters have grown up. Now 18 and close to finishing high school, Dave Lizewski (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) is keen to bring his green figure-hugging Kick-Ass suit out of the closet, while Mindy McCready (Chloe Grace Moretz), who sneaks out of school to bust drug-dealers, is being urged to forget her superhero sideline as Hit-Girl and fit in and be a normal teenager, following the death of her father Big Daddy (Nicolas Cage).

Mindy trains Dave up with her extensive arsenal of weapons – guns, star knives and katanas – but soon her guardian Marcus (Morris Chestnut) advises her to stay in school and give up the Hit-Girl lark, leaving Dave on his own.

After enlisting the help of his buddy Marty (Clark Duke) he finds Justice Forever, a group of wannabe vigilantes run by ex-mobster Colonel Stars And Stripes (Jim Carrey). By day, they are normal, everyday citizens but by night, they exact revenge on criminals.

Chris D'Amico (Christopher Mintz-Plasse) is vowing vengeance on Kick-Ass and Hit-Girl for his father's death by bazooka. This time, he puts aside his superhero alter-ego Red Mist to become a supervillain with the most Twitter followers.

While he gathers his evil gang together, Mindy tries to deal with high school life, attempting to fit in with the cool group at school, attending girly sleepovers and trying out for the cheerleading squad.

But there's only so long she can ignore her Hit-Girl tendencies and it's only a matter of time before she gets back on her purple Ducati and returns to her violent, feisty roots.

Fans of the original will be glad that Kick-Ass 2 is a faithful sequel, although some of the darker references in the comic book have been taken out following the shooting tragedies in Aurora, Colorado, and Sandy Hook, Connecticut.

Nurturing young minds

ADAM FROST has already urged people to think about wildlife at this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show, but the gold medal-winning garden designer isn't done with his campaigning yet. He is now urging parents to get their children into the great outdoors this summer and help reverse the decline of British wildlife.

The State of Nature report, carried out by a coalition of conservation organisations, recently revealed that 60% of British wildlife is in decline, while at the same time, a further research found two thirds of British school children want to be taught more about gardening and to engage with the outdoors.

"I have four children aged between six and 16, who all have a keen interest in nature," says Frost, who designed the Homebase 'Sowing The Seeds Of Change' garden at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show. "The garden is at the heart of our home, where many memories are made while children are growing up.

"I've spent lots of time with my own children both in my own garden and in the wider countryside. We do things together like going on country walks, growing and picking fruit and bird spotting – the list is endless."

Encouraged by these thoughts, Frost has now come up with a plan for parents on how to bring their children into the garden and to attract wildlife at the same time.

■ Create a planting plan

Mix together plants that are both beneficial to people and wildlife, such as fruits, vegetables and herbs, with shrubs and perennial herbaceous plants, to create an area where there is produce for humans and wildlife. Recommended plants that attract wildlife include sunflowers, wild strawberries, thyme, herbs and firethorn shrubs which offer nectar and berries to a range of wildlife.

■ Grow a selection of salad crops

This requires regular attention and will give children something to focus on right up until they eat them. Seeds should be watered every evening and given plant food once a week. Lettuce and other salad leaves can be sown in spring and summer.

■ Go seed collecting

Look closely for plants in your borders where flower heads have fallen off and seeds are growing. If the seeds are brown, get the children to help you pick them and put them in a warm place to dry out ready to plant for next spring.

■ Create a compost heap

This is a great way of encouraging kids to recycle garden waste and also helps them understand the natural cycle of growth and decay. Create three tightly fixed walls in your chosen area and begin filling it with organic materials such as grass clippings, weeds, straw, manure, shredded newspaper, kitchen waste, plant cuttings and soft prunings.

■ Take games outdoors

Go on a treasure hunt or play hide-and-seek to encourage children to explore the garden and stimulate their curiosity about the outdoors. If you have daisies in the garden, teach them to make daisy chains.

■ Set up bird feeding and cleaning stations

Birds come to gardens to feed, breed, nest and rest. To make sure your garden is accommodating, introduce a bird house, feeding station or a bird bath – all of these are a must for budding young bird watchers. The water in a bird bath needs to be at least 2.5cm deep and should be placed in the open away from areas where cats may hide.

■ Store logs

Plenty of wildlife makes its home in dead wood, and other animals use it as a source of food. Children can help make this into a proper wildlife shelter in a small, shady spot so that it remains cool and damp. If moving wood, check beforehand that nothing has already made itself at home.

■ Families can receive further help on how to encourage wildlife into their garden by visiting the Homebase online forum www.getintogardening.co.uk.

Open House weekend

IF you are looking to sell or let your house or buy or rent your next home, the 'MOVE - Open House Weekend' could be right up your street.

The summer months are traditionally a quieter period for the housing market but not this year, according to Abbotts in Haverhill. The estate agency is now gearing up for a busy autumn ahead as it launches its 'MOVE - Open House Weekend' event, taking place this September.

"Activity levels usually peak in the spring and then dip during the summer months as the holiday period takes people's focus away from moving home. However, that hasn't happened this year with the recent upturn in the housing market encouraging those looking to buy or rent property," says Andrew Gibbs, Branch Manager of Abbotts.

The 'MOVE - Open House Weekend' will be held on Saturday September 14th and Sunday September 15th. The team at Haverhill will join more than 1,300 UK branches in a campaign to help more buyers and sellers, landlords and tenants complete their sales, let their properties and purchase or rent a home this autumn.

Abbotts will also be promoting the Government's Help to Buy scheme, which is assisting more first-time buyers to get on the housing ladder and purchase their first home, with a mortgage consultant available to provide information and help buyers find the right mortgage.

Launching the 'MOVE - Open House Weekend' event Andrew continued: "Previous Open House events have been very successful for our customers and we expect this event to be no exception. The attraction for vendors, landlords, buyers and tenants alike is the opportunity for genuine home movers to see the widest selection of properties within one weekend at a time that is convenient for them. There is still time for homeowners and landlords to sign up and take part - we are keen to showcase as many properties as we possibly can."

Call (01440) 702575 or visit the branch in Haverhill at 45a High Street for more information, or visit the website at propertywide.co.uk.

IN readiness for the rush on new 63-plate registrations next month, Renault has launched its latest promotion, 'Vive Le Summer'.

Running from this month until September 22, every customer who takes a test drive in any new Renault model will win something in the giveaway. The range of designer summer-themed prizes includes everything from White Company picnic baskets, Lacoste sunglasses, to travel speakers. On certain dates, iPad minis will also be on offer to Renault purchasers.

Selected models are also available with tempting cash-saving deals and promotions, including VAT off all Méganes and Scénics, and free insurance on selected Clio and Twingos.

Tom on the Marsh to title

TOM Marsh, Ben Attle and Sam Howard came out on top at the Haverhill Junior Open Championships finals day.

Marsh and Jimmy Clayton battled it out for the under-18 title, with the former playing a very consistent match to avenge his recent defeat by Clayton to win 6-1, 6-2.

Ross Tobin played a superb match in the under-18 consolation final beating Matthew Ballaam 6-0, 6-0.

The under-16 final between Attle and Aaron Thorne saw a comfortable first set for Attle. Thorne played a very patient second set to level the match at 1-1, but Attle then played a great championship tie-break (10-3) to win the trophy.

Freddy Holmes played a great first set against No 1 seed Howard in the under-14 final to take the lead.

Howard then applied the pressure in the second set to level the match before winning the championship tie-break 10-4.

Hayden Acott finished off a fine tournament with third place in the under-14s, beating Stephen Newman 6-2, 6-3 to add to his consolation win in the under-16s.

George Shield and Jack Krempel played a long match in the final of the under-14 consolation final with Shield eventually winning 5-7, 6-4, 12-10 after some great play where they both had a chance to win the game.

The final match of a week's brilliant tennis was concluded with a win for Cameron Larkin and Stephen Boyles against Dan and Tom Marsh.

After losing the first set 6-2, they came back to win 6-4, 10-8.

Brenton Mattheus beat Harry Sendall 6-0, 6-4 in the under-18 bronze match while the match for third place in the under-16 doubles was won by brothers Sam and Jack Howard.

Haverhill players Keri Tobin and Luke Marsh played some excellent tennis to win their respective groups in the under-10 green mini-tennis tournament.

In the third-place play-off, Thomas Pettitt won in three close sets with the penultimate point a rally of some 40 shots.

Luke Marsh pulled off an amazing feat by beating Keri Tobin 4-0, 4-1 to win his third successive open championship.

He won the red mini in 2011, orange mini in 2012 and now green mini in 2013.

In the under-eights red mini-tennis, Haverhill player Sam Cates got off to a great start by avenging last month's defeat by Saul Hindmarch to win a very tight game 11-9.

Cates and Hindmarch won their other games to finish first and second, while Sam Fowle won two matches to pick up the bronze.

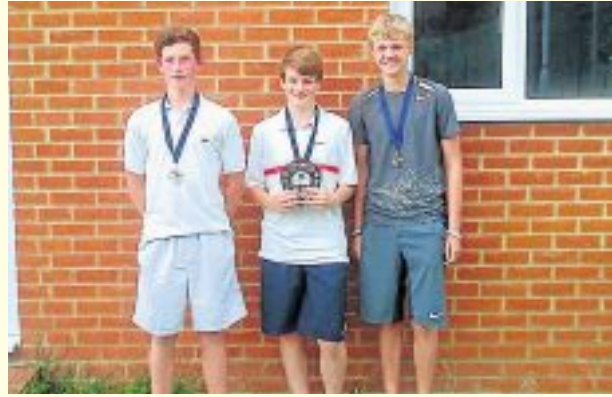

In the under-nines orange mini semi-finals, Toby Dean beat Seth Midwood 7-4, 7-0 and Leonardo Santoro-Fergusson beat Teddy Hope 10-8, 7-3.

Midwood narrowly beat Hope 7-5, 7-5 to take third while, in a very close final, Dean eventually beat Santoro-Fergusson 8-6, 13-11.

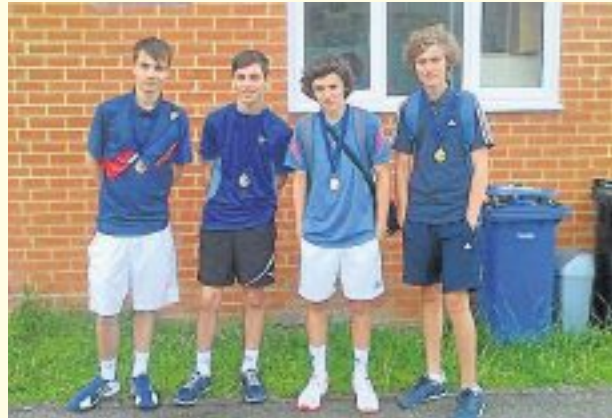

■ Joel Sheldon won the final under-10 county tour tournament of the summer season at Haverhill.

The youngster was too strong for Keri Tobin, winning 4-0.

■ Haverhill ladies have won their last two matches, both 6-2, against Newmarket and Exning in the Norfolk & Suffolk League.

ENTRY DEADLINE FRIDAY 23RD AUGUST, 2013

Haverhill Rovers get off to promising start

DEAN Greygoose got his managerial career at Haverhill Rovers off to the perfect start with a 2-0 win at Wivenhoe Town in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Goals from loanee Peter Maina and Jack Wilkinson secured all three points and had the visitors taken more of their chances the margin of victory could have been greater, not least because Dan Cornwell missed a penalty in the second half.

"I was really pleased," said Greygoose.

"As a new manager you're always a bit nervous going into your first game.

"We had a tough pre-season, which we planned, and it looks like that has stood us in good stead."

Rovers took control from the start but in the first half they struggled to test the Wivenhoe goalkeeper despite enjoying most of the possession.

The breakthrough came in the 40th minute when Maina, on loan from AFC Sudbury, got on the end of a good cross after a neat interchange between Cornwell and Wilkinson.

The hosts were reduced to 10 men in the 65th minute when their keeper brought down Cornwell but the Haverhill striker, who had not missed from the spot for eight years, blazed the resulting penalty over.

Rovers eventually doubled their lead with 10 minutes left when Wilkinson blasted home a free-kick.

Rovers followed up the win with a 1-1 draw at home to Hadleigh United.

The visitors took the lead in the 29th minute but Wilkinson equalised on the stroke of half time.

Rovers' Marc Abbott was sent off in the 74th minute for a second booking but Rovers held on to secure a point.

On target: Jack Wilkinson scored Rovers' second goal in their 2-0 win at Wivenhoe Town.

Bright beginning for Borough despite missing duo

HAVERHILL Borough began life in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division with a 2-1 win at home to Ipswich Wanderers, despite finding out just before kick-off they were unable to field two of their chosen starting 11.

It transpired Ryan Deegan and Ross Elkins were not issued with the correct registration to play in the game, but this was only discovered when manager Ben Cowling was writing out his team sheet.

In spite of the late changes, Borough rose to the occasion against the team which finished fifth last season.

"It was a very, very good performance and with a bit better finishing it could have been more," said Cowling.

"I thought 2-1 flattered Ipswich and it was a great performance, particularly as an administrative error meant we were unable to field two of our best players.

"We've added a couple of new faces, but apart from that it's mostly the same squad from last season. They're all local lads and they're all proud to play for the shirt and the town, and it's great to see."

Ryan Weaver put Haverhill ahead with a 39th minute strike. Ipswich pulled one back in the 59th minute, but Borough responded immediately and went straight up the other end to score through Luke

> Triathlon

Tappin hits the Cotswold way

JACK Tappin put aside trouble on his cycle to complete the gruelling Cotswold Classic Triathlon.

The Haverhill competitor was in action in the 1.2-mile swim, 56-mile cycle and half marathon, completing the course in 6hr 24min 34sec.

He finished the swim in 53min 19sec, the cycle in 3hr 13min 17sec and the run in 2hr 9min 3sec.

Tappin said: "It wasn't a great time and I had some problems in the cycle which set me back, but when covering this distance I'm just pleased to complete it."

Twenty-one triathletes failed to finish the race, which was won in a time of 4hr 1min 27sec by Duncan Shea-Simmonds.

Haverhill Running Club's Tappin's final triathlon of the season will be in St Neots on September 8.

"Thirteen months ago I completed my first sprint triathlon in Norwich, and now I've done three middle distance races this year," he said.

"At the start of the year I wasn't confident that I could manage that distance and barely slept before my first attempt at the Big East Triathlon, so I'm pleased with how I've progressed in the sport in 2013.

"There's a lot of room for improvement with my swimming and next year I'd like to target completing my first marathon and aim for a sub-six hour middle distance triathlon."

Mistley defeat for Haverhill

AMIT Gupta's work went unrewarded as Haverhill lost by six wickets to Mistley in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

He hit 54, Kyle Blanchard provided 43 and Adam Dellar 30 as the hosts set a target of 171 for 6. But Mistley responded with 176 for 4 despite Dan Poole grabbing 3 for 41.

Andy Brightmore's 71 helped Weston Colville to beat Newborough by six wickets in Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two.

His score and other contributions from Chris Scott (31 not out) and Joe Robins (26) helped the team successfully chase down their opponents' score of 190 all out.
